The Central Guard-he

The Central Guard-home.

It will be recollected that on the 15th instant, Hon. John F. Potter introduced a resolution into the House of Representatives, making inquiry as to the treatment of prisoners in the Central Guard-house.

The resolution, secompanied by a communication from some of the prisoners confaced in the guard house, complaining of their treatment, was transmitted to the Secretary of War, from whom an answer was received on the 17th, transmitting the report of Mr. Roberts, assistant Provost Marshal, on the subject, in which he says that the building is too small for the number of prisoners confined there, and that arrangements have been made to transfer a portion of them to a building in Georgetown, which had been procured for the purpose. We subject the following extract from this report:

"There are in the guard-house at this time."

regetown, which had been procured for the prisoners, and 3s of the latter number will be discharged in the morning, which, as has already been static, it is entirely too many prisoners for the calcity of the prison. Notwithstanding this act, the general health of the prisoners is good; but two cases of sickness exist, and me of those came in yesterday. In reply to the communication referred to, it is perhaps proper to say that all the parties who have agned it, with the exception of two, to wii: William H. Wright and R. C. Ruhl, were committed by order of Major General Bank, and are all either sentenced by court martial or awaiting sentence, as follows:

C. E. Livingston, sentenced February 24, six months imprisonment, and forfeit ave dollars of his pay for each month.

The paper thus signed contains a number of allegations which it is, perhaps, proper should be answered scriatim.

That the prison is crowded is admitted, and the arrangements to obviste this stated. It is That the prison is crowded is admitted, and the arrangements to obviate this stated. It is stated that they "are supposed to be allowed soldiers" rations;" this is incorrect in point of fact, no such instention exists. The guardhouse is a place of punishment, and full rations are not allowed; hard bread and meat are furnished twice a day in ample quantity; there has been no stint and no complaint here tofore as to the quantity, and upon inquiry of some of the complainants this svening they admitted that the quantity was quite sufficient. It is true that during one day and a half, some week or ten days since, they were without meat, because it could not be obtained.

The Ellegation that they are not allowed soap is unfounded; and the further statement, that they were compelled to wear their clothes until they were full of vermin, is unitrue; in two instances men are badly off or clothing, which will be furnished them.

The further complaint that the men are not tried, I have shown, from the record in each particular case, to be incorrect.

In reply to an indorsement which I see upon the resolution, I beg to state that the Povost Marsbal's office is open at all times, and an officer required to be upon duty, with the exception of the "pass" department, which is closed at 3 o'clock p. m., which probably led to the erroneous information given to your assistant yesterday.

Celebration of the Anniversary of the Hungarian Revolution, and of the Birthday of Garibaldi.

Hungariam Revelution, and of the Birthday of Garbhaldi.

The Hungarian officers and civilians present in Washington celebrated, on Wednesday avening, the anniversary of the Hungarian revolution of 1845, and the birthday of Garbhaldi.

The party consisted, among others, of Col. Albert, late of Fremonit's stell; Major Zegonyi, Col. Dettay, and Captains Sarpy, Deinka, and Szabad. The heart-cheering Tokay and other excellent wines were served up in abundance, and amid the general merriment many an earnest word was uttered. Tossis were drunk with much cheer or. Hungary, the Union, Garibaldi, and Fremont. Major Zegonyi expressed the hope that the moment will soon arrive when all the Hungarians who want to fight will have an opportunity to gird on the sword for the defence of the Union, and to show that they know their duty as solders both in the United States and Hungary.

The party, including a few officers who had served under Garibaidi and who arrived here a few months ago, separated with a hearty hurrah for the Union and Hungary.

Runaway Teams.

Runaway Teams.

Several mishaps have recently occurred in various parts of the city, in consequence of runaway horses attached to different kinds of runaway horses attached to different kinds of rehicles. We witnessed two instances of this kind on Wednesday. Fortunately, no great damage was done in either case. Both instances were caused by the carelessness of the drivers in leaving their teams unfastened in the street, while they went into some vile groggery to "take a drink," and it is due more to good luck than good management that their teams were not smashed to atoms, or still worse, some person was not killed in the furious flight of the frightened borses. Surely, the lives of our citizens should not be put in perilby drinking or drunken teamsters. We hope the police will give attention to this evil, which seems to be on the increase at the present time.

An Important Case.

A meeting was held in New York, one day last week, to ascertain who are the heirs to the estate of a certain banker in England, ammed Wood, valued at $45,000,000. We understand there are soveral claimants in this city. The deceased was a bachelor who had two brothers who settled on Long Island. Some seventy-five persons were present with lists of names, pedigrees, &c. The property is held by the British Crown in trust for the heirs.

Metropolitan Police.

Metropolitan Pelice.

Some of our citizens might like to know the strength of this force, and we give it as follows: Superintendent, 1; sergeants, 10; patrolmen doing patrol duty, 147; do, doing special duty, 3; total, 161. Of the patrolmen, there are assigned to the city of Washington, 111; Georgetown, 23; the county, 22. Since the first of January this force have been in uniform. They are a very efficient corps.

Amusements.

CANTERBURY.—The attendance at this very popular place is undagging, notwithstanding the additional number of places of amusement. To-night and to-morrow night are the last of the brilling trapeze of the Delevante Brothers, an act at once the most wonderful and most graceful of any ever effered in this city. Miss Fowler gives to-night two new dances, and appears in the celebrated trial from La Bayadere. Miss Mortimer sings charmingly.

Movius J. Meyer has established a newspaper agency on the corner of Sevents street and Pennsylvania avenue, with reduced prices. The Tribune is seld at four cents per copy. As this is a convenient place for the mass of our citizens to produre the latest papers, we predict his success in the newspaper business. Copies of the National Republican are for sale at his stand immediately after their issue each morning.

On our arrival at this place, the corporate authorities, through S. L. Burritt. Eq., came off with a flag of truce, and gave up the town.

From conversations with intelligent citizens.

I find that the inhabitants are seeking and waiting for the protection of our flag; that they do not fear us, but their own people; and from the occupation of this important point, I am satisfied, if our opportunities are improved great results will follow. Many of the citizens have fied, many remain, and there is reason to believe most of them will return.

I have just heard the municipal government has been rectored.

A dispatch from Flag Officer S. F. DuPon ated March 15, off St. Augustine, contains the following:

following:

"Further information from the St. John's river is saliafactory. The burning of the valuable milis and inmber, with the fine hotel, at Jacksonville, and the house of Mr. Robinson, a Union man, was by order of the rebel General Trapier, who, after ingloriously flying with bis forces from the town, with very considerable means of defence at band, sent a large detachment back for this incendiary purpose, on discovering that our gauboats had not been able on their first arrival to cross the bar."

places have been besieged by crowds of strangers and others who have journed thither, not alone for the purpose of gazing on these memorable locations, but also for securing some of the numberless trophies that are strewn over these fields. Everything of value was carried away within twenty-four houre after our troopmade the advance. But there yet remains, soattered in every direction, scores of cartridge boxes, havereacks, knapsacks and other articles of soldiers' equipments.*

Now and there a stray scabbard or a crooked sabre is raked out of some hole or corner by a diligent curiosity-seeker, and borne away with as much gusto as though worth its weight is gold. A broken stock of a musket, a bent gun barrel, or anything else that, under ordinary circumstances, would not be worth the trouble of carrying away, are stowed under carriage seats and speedily conveyed into Washington, from which place they soon find their way into the different Northern cities.

from which place they soon find their way into the different Northern cities.

Fabulous prices have been offered within the past week for trophles of the description named. A soldier who had found a pipe-bowl, carved out of wood, at Bull Run, was offered ten dollars for it by a comrade, which price, however, he refused. A huge bowle-knife, hacked and rusted, easily commanded eight dollars, which price, however, could not command the article in question. Bibles and testaments, and books of a light literary character, in a damaged contition, most of them found on the battle-field, are bartered away at four times their original cost, and the purchasers of them consider that they are lucky in securing the prize even at such a cost.

Horse shoes, rifle bullets, crockery and iron ware are just as eargerly seized upon, and every thing to be found here, no matter how intrinsic the waite may be, is daily being carried away. In the meantime there is no diminution of tray, in the direction, and the ligery stable knew.
